

A software engineer with system administration background, working under low fault tolerance and high performance.

